Emergenetics Profiling

For the first time in India FMS Pune has tied up with Emergenetics International for students overall development .By understanding Emergenetics® principles and self profile.

Understanding the basics

At FMS we understand the need of designing and implementing such a curriculum which would bridge the gap between theoretical learning and industry requirements. Therefore as a part of student development programme we have tied up with the Xed Intellect, an innovative online learning solution provider to enhance students learning and performance, and thereby creating areas of excellence.

International Internship

As a integral part of curriculum Faculty of Management Sciences - Pune offer Compulsory International Internship to all its students.

Why intern abroad ?

An international internship is a unique way to gain professional experience in an exciting global setting. The benefits include, but are not limited to :
Meaningful and challenging practical work experience with an international focus. Developing close working relationships with business professionals who can serve as contacts for job opportunities, provide references, and write strong letters of recommendation needed for the future academic and employment opportunities. The development of cross-cultural skills and "cultural intelligence" needed by a growing number of employers.
Great preparation for behavioral and situational interview questions when students start applying for jobs.
